Invitation

Hello,

you want to start to study physics, geophysics, meteorology or teaching physics in the master in Karlsruhe in the summer term 2024? In order to make your start at KIT easier and to answer questions we organize an orientation day. We would like to invite you to this event.

It will start on Thursday, the 11.04.2024 at 10.00 am in front of the physics building (see map on the back). We will begin with a presentation of the examination regulations (just physics master) and the digital student portal (we will bring you to room 6.1 building 30.23). Then there will be a campus tour and a visit to the canteen. Afterwards you will have the opportunity to create an individual Master's study plan together with Patrick. In the evening there is the possibility to join a game night organized from the Mechanical and Chemical engineering student council. Start is at 6.45pm again at the physics building (see map on the back)

Please let us know by email if you are participating.

If you have any questions, please contact us at fachschaft@physik.kit.edu.

See you then!
